

Construction Communication Survey

Our goal with this survey is to find the most effective ways of communicating with you. Construction can be an overwhelming experience for everyone involved. We would like to have clear channels of communication in place so that we may be in touch with you to keep you apprised of schedules, construction progress, and important meetings we think you should attend.

In an effort to better serve and communicate with you during this coming construction season, we, the Engineering Department of the City of Hastings, would like to ask you a few questions. Please take a few moments to complete the following survey.
